Ending Hunger and Malnutrition in Your Community

Over 50 million Americans rely on a local food pantry to help feed their families yet they can't get fresh fruit or vegetables.

Over 40 million gardeners across America grow fruit, vegetables, herbs – often more than they can use, preserve or give away.

It does not have to be this way

The AmpleHarvest.org Campaign backed by Google, the USDA, many faith and service organizations and food banks across America enables millions of gardeners to share their excess harvest with neighborhood food pantries.

This free nationwide campaign has already registered more than 6,000 food pantries across all 50 states with more signing up daily. For millions of Americans, it is the only way they'll get healthy, fresh food.

Here are some ways you can help:

Support AmpleHarvest.org

Visit www.AmpleHarvest.org/support to help. Your generous support or that of a foundation or corporate grant program you work with helps to sustain AmpleHarvest.org's work on a nationwide basis. AmpleHarvest.org is the most cost efficient anti-hunger initiative in America! Donations are tax deductible.

Urge a local food pantry to register at AmpleHarvest.org.

Find the food pantry in your community - possibly in a nearby house of worship, YMCA or other civic location. Give them the AmpleHarvest.org/pantry flier and urge them to register ASAP. Let them know they don't need refrigeration for freshly harvested produce, they don't need the Internet and that AmpleHarvest.org is totally FREE!
